ADVERSE DAY AT LATONIA

Rain and Sloppy Mud Bring Unpleasant Conditions for All.

Favorites Fail and Bon Tromp and Redmon Pay Long Prices—Old Sleeth Takes a Purse.

Latonia, Ky., November 18.—Weather and track conditions at Latonia this afternoon were anything but ideal for racing, but in spite of adverse conditions a large crowd journeyed to the course. A cold rain fell all afternoon, forcing the spectators to keep under cover during the running of the card. The track was one of soft mud and only those horses with a known facility for mud running were given any consideration by the speculators.

Favorites fell by the wayside in rapid succession, with most of the races going to horses paying generous dividends. Bathilde was the first to disappoint when she failed to get any portion of the purse in the second race, which was taken by Rafferty in easy style. Madge F. was the offending one in the third race when she fell a victim to Delicious' superior staying power. Brownie McDawell brought more woe to the form backers in the race following.

The biggest disappointment of the day attended the running of the fifth race, billed as the feature, in which A. N. Akin was an odds-on favorite and was supposed to be right at home in the slop, but was beaten off all the way. The race went to John Lowe's Bon Tromp, paying odds of a trifle better than 19 to 1. The Lowe horse raced close up with Skiles Knob, the pacemaker, and outstayed him in the stretch drive.

Hundley Baker's nine-year-old Sleeth astonished the spectators when he led throughout and cantered home a winner in the sixth race. It was the first purse for Sleeth to win in a long time. The winner paid a good price.

Redmon was another one that rewarded his backers handsomely with odds of better than 26 to 1. The speculators neglected him in the belief that he could not run well in the mud. Delico and Brynlimah were the other long-priced winners that gave the talent food for reflection.

Much interest attached to the appearance of Sewell Combs in the fifth race. This three-year-old colt was making his first appearance since he started in the Kentucky Derby.

The program booked for the final four days of this week was distributed by Racing Secretary Campbell and the increased purse values embraced in it met with the approval of the horsemen.

Bathilde, favorite for the second race, was claimed from M. Goldblatt, in whose colors she was making her debut, by John Randolph for $1,100.

TRAINER NICHOLS' LUCKY DAY.

J. H. Nichols, trainer of Redmon, which won the fourth race at the long odds of $54.50, was anxious to scratch the horse in the morning, but finally concluded to run him, because to get out of the race he would have been called upon to pay a stiff scratch fee.

Golden Glow was ordered scratched from the fifth race after the betting had been in progress for a considerable time and the money wagered on him was refunded.

Advices from Maryland is that R. F. Carman, who has charge of The Beach Stable, contemplates shipping shortly his entire string, including Sunny Slope, to New Orleans for a campaign on the tracks there.

The horses of Mrs. R. L. Bresler and those of Frank Farrow passed through Cincinnati yesterday en route to New Orleans, where they will be raced.

Lack of cars in Maryland is causing owners some delay in transferring to the Crescent City, but they are hopeful that the car supply will soon improve.

Max Hirsch, who is training the horses of G. W. Loft, has reconsidered his intention of resting the racers at Belmont Park next winter and is preparing them for shipment to the Crescent City.

Marshall Bros.' horses, which include Courtship, Marie Miller and others, were shipped to New Orleans Sunday. Several other owners will send consignments to the Crescent City tonight and the horses of S. Doyle will leave for New Orleans tomorrow.

H. B. Reether came in from Lexington with Ann S., the property of T. C. Bradley and Andrew Bowman, and King Osi, belonging to J. Speyer and P. Gormley.

J. S. Ward, who arrived from the east last week with J. W. Parrish's Midway and Bulse, plans to take life easy during the winter at his home in Louisville, having sold all of his own horses. The Parrish pair, after racing the Latonia meeting out, will be turned out for the winter.

Louis Strube was an arrival from Baltimore, from which point he shipped three horses to Cuba. He himself is under engagement to go to New Orleans with the stable of P. T. Chinn.

OMAR KHAYYAM FOR FRANCE

New York, November 18.—Mr. Wilfrid Viau, the owner of Omar Khayyam, has been in the city the past few days after recovering from a slight operation on his leg, due to a fall. Mr. and Mrs. Viau have their eyes turned toward France, expecting to leave for that country as soon after the New Year as possible. They have a home there, which they have not seen for the past four years. What is more important, however, to horsemen is the possibility that once back again it is probable the Viaus will stay there and transfer their racing interests to that country. Mr. Viau said yesterday that in all probability he would ship Omar Khayyam to France, especially if he continued to improve as he has done the past few weeks. Should Mr. Viau decide to move to France with Omar Khayyam, it will deprive this country of one of the best horses in the handicap division for next year, which can be ill spared.

JUAREZ TO REOPEN IN 1919

New York, November 18.—Col. Matt Winn will winter in New York with the possibility of a short trip to Havana just for recreation and the sea trip. For the present he has not given Juarez a thought regarding the resumption of racing there excepting that the Mexican institution will be given serious consideration as soon as national affairs are settled. "By next winter there will no doubt be many changes for the better," said Mr. Winn, "and Juarez will then be on the map again as a winter racing point. It would be too late to do anything this winter in any event, but there is little question that we shall revive racing there next winter."

OPTIMISTIC OVER FUTURE OF RACING

John E. Madden Confident Turf Will Prosper During Readjustment Period—Favors Long Distances.

Lexington, Ky., November 18.—John E. Madden master of Hamburg Place, who has bred a greater number of race horses of the highest class than any man now engaged in the production of the thoroughbred, has returned to his farm after a season in the east. He believes in the future of racing, and while he recognizes the handicaps under which it has labored during the period of the war, is of the opinion that the men who have proved their loyalty to the government by giving their time and money for the good of the cause and necessarily have been forced to curtail their operations to a considerable extent will continue to race on an elaborate scale after the readjustment of conditions, and will maintain the market values of the thoroughbred as they have done in the past.

Mr. Madden says that sportsmen who have been the most liberal patrons of racing before the war have been prompted solely by their admiration for the thoroughbred, and have raced with no view of gain, consequently they have been the mainstay of the sport, and any curtailment of their activities would have the effect of lessening the number of entries in stakes and would materially effect the sales of the best of the yearling consignments to the spring and autumn auctions.

He is confident that the sport will maintain itself, even though there must be fewer men of means taking part in racing for a few years to come, owing to the heavy taxes paid by the owners of the larger stables. The men who follow the warm climates, as he indicates the followers of racing who pursue it as a means of livelihood, and continue their activities into the winter months at New Orleans and Cuba are essential, but they do not maintain racing as do the men of large fortunes who can afford to indulge in the sport without regard to cost.

The master of Hamburg Place says the attendance at the eastern meetings has been excellent—greater in fact than could have been expected under the conditions that have existed during the war; but he has no hesitancy in saying that racing would lose much of the prestige it has gained from the support given it by men of affairs who conduct large stables without regard to cost should these decide to await the return of normal conditions after the period of adjustment is at an end.

According to Mr. Madden, racing this year has furnished comparatively few genuine cracks, race horses of the highest class, for while among the two-year-olds Billy Kelly, Eternal, War Pennant, Cirrus and Dunboyne have shown some degree of good class and have raced consistently during the year, there has been, generally speaking, a lack of the best material in this division.

As regards the three-year-olds the best are War Cloud and Johren, which appear to be genuine stayers, regardless of the fact that the first named ran several disappointing races, is the opinion of the most extensive breeder and turfman in this country. Jack Hare Jr. and The Porter are speed marvels up to distances of one and one-sixteenth miles. Sun Briar, in his judgment, is a wonderfully fast horse, and yet not a stayer in the accepted sense of the term. He thinks War Cloud, when at the top of his form, quite the equal to the best, while Johren is little, if any, short of a real crack when in prime condition. Mr. Madden says it is merely a matter of opinion as to the respective merits of horses of different years, and yet he has no doubt that such a horse as Salvidere, which raced in his colors during the best part of his career, was considerably superior to any horse of his age seen in colors this year.

AMERICAN-BRED AS GOOD AS ANY.

In commenting on the subject of native-bred horses and those of strictly foreign blood, the man who raced Hamburg, Salvidere, King James, Plaudit, David Garrick, Yankee, Blue Girl and others of merit, and who bred Sir Martin, the only American-bred horse to occupy the place of post favorite for the Epsom Derby, says that the successes of such natives as Billy Kelly, Eternal, Dunboyne, War Pennant and Cirrus, the latter being by Tracery, a horse foaled in the United States, dam a daughter of Meddler, foaled when the son of St. Gatien was standing in this country, disprove any idea that may exist of the superiority of English over American blood. He cites the case of Billy Kelly, which colt is by Dick Welles, distinctly a native-bred, dam a mare by Free Knight, from a daughter of Faustus, all of which represent the blood of the American thoroughbred for several generations.

In citing Eternal as an American-bred Mr. Madden called attention to his sire, Sweep, the leading horse of the year among the sires of winners, which is by Ben Brush, a strictly native sire, dam a daughter of Domino, all native blood, while the dam of Eternal, Hazel Burke, although by Sempronius, is from a strictly American family, his dam being Retained II., by Hanover, a native horse, dam Reclare, by Reform.

Mr. Madden, whose experience with race horses is wider than that of any man living, he having trained and driven trotters, trained thoroughbreds and bred both sorts, while his knowledge of the practical features of training and racing equals that of any man in this or any other country, is a firm believer in the value of thoroughbred blood in producing cavalry remounts, light artillery and mounted infantry horses, and has for many years been one of the warmest supporters of this blood with which to produce the type of horses of which the government stands in need.

In speaking of racing and its influence over breeding, Mr. Madden said he believed in long distance races and the improvement of the breed, for he could see no benefit accruing to the government by the use of inferior horses, such as selling platers, and while he realized that races must be given for horses incapable of winning stakes or handicaps, there could be no improvement in the breed unless the best was maintained by giving races for horses of genuine ability and encouraging the production of stayers, by making such races the rule rather than the exception.

Mr. Madden has written several articles on the subject of the type of horse best suited for government purposes, and he has invariably taken the view that thoroughbred blood is absolutely necessary in order to produce a type capable of galloping in any kind of going, of carrying weight and of going on courageously.

MAY CHANGE PREAKNESS CONDITIONS

New York, November 18.—There may be some change in the conditions for the 1919 Preakness Stakes, to be run at Pimlico next spring, regarding penalties and allowances. In speaking on the subject Frank J. Bryan said that owing to the large overnight purses that were common, as well as the rich stake of this year, it might eliminate or put such heavy imposts on horses that many desirables would be absent.

Quite a few improvements will be made at the Jamaica track before the 1919 opening. The infield will be leveled off and sown with grass and clover. Some new stables will be erected, and in all probability the whole place will be cleaned up with a new coat of paint.

LATONIA MEETING A BIG SUCCESS

Increase in Purses for This Week's Racing—Extension to November 30 Likely.

Cincinnati, O., November 18.—If the Latonia Jockey Club's deferred fall race meeting continues to run along as satisfactorily as it has since its opening on Wednesday last, it will pass into history as one of the most successful fall meetings ever held in Kentucky. The generous manner in which the sport has been patronized in spite of the repeated delay in getting the meeting launched shows that it takes more than a series of postponements to diminish the interest of the local public in the fascinating sport of racing.

While General Manager John Hachmeister has as yet made no authoritative announcement on the subject, it is the general expectation of those who are conversant with his ideas on that matter that if at the expiration of the ten days for which the deferred meeting is scheduled weather and other conditions remain favorable, he will not hesitate to announce an extension of the meeting for an additional week, making use of all the dates on which it is legally permissible to race in the State of Kentucky at this season of the year. Under the rules of the Kentucky State Racing Commission there can be no racing after November 30.

In the event that an extension is decided upon, an attractive program will be prepared for the final week, with special attention devoted to bringing into action as frequently as possible the better grade of horses that will have completed their stake engagements. It has been the general experience under such circumstances that overnight offerings of the type which Manager Hachmeister has in mind provides racing that frequently outshines that growing out of stake features. It often happens that horsemen reserve their best horses for particular stake features, and with these features out of the way they feel more free to engage in overnight racing.

NEW PROGRAM BOOK ISSUED.

Racing Secretary J. B. Campbell will issue to the horsemen on Monday the racing program for the final four days of the ten-day schedule. The book will provide a substantial increase in purse values, Manager Hachmeister having voluntarily decided to share with the horsemen the prosperity which has attended the conduct of the racing to date. Under the authority of the Kentucky State Racing Commission purse values were slighly reduced during the first part of the meeting, on account of the uncertainty that naturally existed as to the possibility of conducting a successful meeting after the exasperating series of postponements of the opening and the loss of the fine spell of weather of the early fall. Now that he can see his way clear to do so, Manager Hachmeister is only too glad to increase the purses to something like the original schedule.

With the Autumn Selling Stakes of $2,000 added scheduled for decision on Tuesday, the $5,000 added Queen City Handicap, a mile event for two-year-olds, set for Thursday, and the $7,500 added Latonia Cup, two miles and a quarter, provided as the stellar feature of Saturday's card, it will be indeed a notable week at Latonia.

A fine band of selling platers of the better type will go to the post in the Autumn Selling Stakes, while the running of the Queen City Handicap, the most valuable of all western fall events for two-year-olds, will go far toward settling the western juvenile championship, and on account of the distance involved will have an important bearing on the Derby contests of next year.

An especially fine field is in prospect for the Latonia Cup, more horses of good class being in training for this event than at any previous time in its history. The prospective contestants include the Kentucky Derby winner, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's crack three-year-old Exterminator; George M. Hendrie's great handicap horse Rancher, the Waldeck Stable's noted stayer Moscowa, George J. Long's good colt Freecutter, and such others as Beaverkill, Precious, El Rey, Herald, Lucky B. and Opportunity.

THIRTY LEADING AMERICAN JOCKEYS

A feature of the jockeyship of this year is the number of lads unheard of a couple of years back who have been rapidly gaining recognition by their successful work in the saddle. In this category are E. Sande, H. Lunsford, L. Ensor, G. Walls, C. Kummer, J. Rodriguez, F. Smith and R. Pauley. Sande leads them all; but L. Ensor has attracted the most attention of late, and in riding ten winners in last week's racing scored his hundred in winning mounts. These boys all seem to give high promise now, but it remains to be seen whether any of them is to become a really high-class jockey. In recent years we have seen M. Garner, J. McTaggart and W. Crump do equally great things as lightweight jockeys without justifying their apparent promise later on. L. Lyke and F. Robinson are about the only ones of the comparatively new crop of riders who have worn well and improved in the arts of horsemanship. Of the two Lyke is the leader for 1918, and probably is to remain such to the end of the year. Little F. Smith has began to attract considerable attention, and in riding seven winners at Latonia last week was second to Ensor in that respect. The end of Saturday's racing found the records of our thirty leaders to be as follows:

Jockey.	Mts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Unp.	P.C.	L.	W.

PLATER MARION GOOSBY IS DESTROYED

Lexington, Ky., November 18.—W. Perkins' good plater Marion Goosby, six year olds, by Marathon—Pheenie Fickle, which had been nerved, was destroyed a couple of days ago at Carr & Platt's farm near here.

MUD RUNNERS TO THE FORE

Sloppy Track at Bowie Gives Them a Decided Advantage.

Kashmir Beats Koh-i-Noor in the Principal Race—Ensor Rides Two Winners.

Bowie, Md., November 18.—Only the regulars were in evidence at Prince George's Park today. A more disagreeable day could not be imagined. Rain fell continuously, and the track was a sea of mud. Horses with a partiality for soft going were in their element. Despite many withdrawals the fields were of good size, made up mostly of the cheaper grade of horses. The most pretentious race of the afternoon was the mile dash, run as the fourth. A fast band of sprinters met and Kashmir was returned the winner after a well contested stretch drive with Koh-i-Noor. Matinee Idol's race was an excellent one considering that he was badly outrun in the early stages.

Jockey Ensor started the day auspiciously by riding the winners of the first two races. In the opener he had the mount on Bettie Bluff, which scored a narrow victory over Miss Voski. The latter, but for a slow start, would have won, as she closed an immense gap and was gaining with every stride at the end. Phantom Maid was most fancied in this race, but was off so badly that whatever chance she may have had went glimmering.

Ensor rode a splendid race on Duchess Lace in the second race. He kept the Fair Play filly close up to the pacemaker, Ground-Swell, and when the latter went wide in the homestretch sent his mount into the lead and the race was over. Over There semingly disliked the going and ran poorly.

Firing Line furnished an upset in the third when he easily defeated King Neptune and Zouave, both of which were substantially backed. Firing Line was favored by the going, and after Zouave tired from setting the pace he moved into the lead and drew away to win by six lengths.

Cobalt Lass simply revelled in the going to win the fifth race by a wide margin, with Dolina easily second best.

Kebo's success in the sixth was just as easily achieved, the Cahill gelding drawing away into a big lead after Miss Fannie tired from settnig the pace to the stretch.

Poor Butterfly led all the way in the closing dash, merely cantering from start to finish.

HORSE SHOW'S NOTABLE FIGURES

Adams Express to Go to Kansas—Martimas Gelding Wins Plate.

New York, November 18.—In last Thursday's contest at the National Horse Show for the Remount Service sire blue ribbon, which Adams Express won, as told in these dispatches, four fine types paraded before R. Lawrence Smith, the judge. They were Adams Express, Uncas Chief, a son of Ben Strome, which won premier honors last year; Bulgaria II., owned by W. D. Cleland, and Oyama, a son of Commando, exhibited by Troop K of the New York State Troopers. All of them were excellent specimens, and it was only after careful consideration that Mr. Smith was able to declare Adams Express the victor. The winner is to be sent to Fort Riley, Kansas, at once.

Adams Express was a good race horse. He is ten years old and by Adam—Fredericka, by Frederick the Great—Gretna, by Mortimer. In his six years of racing Adams Express' records was as follows:

Year.	Age.	Sts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Unp.	Won.
1910	2	8	1	1	1	5	$ 575
1911	3	13	3	6	1	3	2,270
1912	4	16	7	3	3	3	6,412
1913	5	9	1	0	1	7	620
1914	6	4	0	0	1	3	50
1915	7	6	0	0	2	4	100
Totals (6)	56	12	10	9	25		$10,027

Uncas Chief was awarded the red ribbon, while Bulgaria II., a half-brother to the victor, took the yellow. Oyama, which was bred by the late James R. Keene, received the white, indicating highly commended. He showed a trifle lame as a result of an accident in loading at White Plains a few days ago. He is by Commando—Ben My-Chree, by Galopin, and a half-brother to the noted race mare Cap and Bells, winner of the English Oaks of 1901 in Foxhall Keene's colors.

The contest for the Jockey Club's Plate brought out eight fine specimens suitable to become cavalry mounts. They were an evenly balanced band and each possessed a strain of thoroughbred blood.

Ottawa, a Canadian-bred gray gelding, owned by Major John K. Brown of West Point, was the best. Amid applause from a host of military men and lovers of the charger he was decorated with the blue, and his owner was presented with the $100 prize. Ottawa is by Martimas, which won the Futurity in 1897 in the colors of the late William Hendrie of Hamilton, Ont.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

L. A., Montreal, Can. Your query was duly answered. C. Kummer rode Sunnyland.

L. L. R., St. Louis, Mo. Bulse's correct show price in the race inquired about was 140 to 100.

C. M. B., Chicago, Ill., and J. F. B., New Orleans, La. $4.80 was the correct show price on Bulse in the seventh race at Latonia November 13; the equivalent odds should read 140 to 100.

C. E. O., Chicago, Ill. Ulf, bay colt, by St. Cyr—Lady Bohemia, which you owned, was foaled in 1888. Miss Sent (not Miss Set), bay filly by St. Cyr—Miss Goodrich (Hunnewell), which you also owned, was foaled in 1889.

W., Chicago, Ill. No horse named Iwin started on November 14, but a horse named Iwiniwin did start and won the third race at Latonia. A wager on Iwin would have been a draw, unless the layer conceded that Iwiniwin was meant and paid accordingly.

M. H., Louisville, Ky. In every item you are right in your interpretation of the meaning of the charts. In the race won by Texas Special twelve horses started and under "Fin." the places they finished in are given from Texas Special first, down to Parking, the twelfth and last. There is no ground for any argument in the matter, but your "bonehead" friend could certainly satisfy himself by the simple expedient of counting the horses from top to bottom under their names.
